

NGO instrument

1. Name of the organisation, headquarters of the office in Honduras, name of the interviewee, and contact.
2. Give a brief description of the human rights related to industrial fishing practiced by the organisation in Honduras and the department of Gracias a Dios.
3. How do you consider the State's duty to protect, respect and redress the human rights of workers in the industrial spearfishing chain?
4. In relation to the duty of the company to protect, respect and redress the human rights of workers in industrial spearfishing, do you consider that the companies and the State have adopted measures? Please explain.
5. What is the cultural, social and human rights impact of industrial spearfishing on Indigenous and Afro-Honduran peoples, children, women and persons with disabilities in the department of Gracias a Dios?
6. What is the impact on livelihoods and ecosystems of industrial spearfishing in the territories of Indigenous and Afro-Honduran peoples in the department of Gracias a Dios?
7. What is the economic impact of industrial spearfishing at the level of the department of Gracias a Dios and the country?
8. In your opinion, why do accidents happen in industrial underwater lobster fishing?
9. Does your organisation have any programme to support this fishing sector?
10. What would you recommend to the State and companies about industrial lobster spearfishing in order to have a human rights approach?
11. Are there any other issues you would like to address?